Story by Amy Monahan, Arizona JOAD Coordinator

Some great volunteers faced strong winds at the Long Bow Golf Course on April 14 to bring an archery experience to some of the nation's top junior golfers. The golfers were there to participate in the Heather Farr Classic Golf Tournament. For the fourth year in a row, AZ JOAD Archery has provided a chance for the golfers to try out archery following their rounds of golf.

The targets were set at about 10 yards and the golfers used Genesis Bows.

Despite strongly gusting winds they were able to hit the targets and some scored pretty well. The volunteers did a great job of providing one on one coaching for each of the golfers trying archery. The golfers who participated enjoyed the event and a few had their own private competition going on.

A big thanks to the volunteers:
